In Appreciation

Appreciation for 65 years of teaching in the same school cannot go unnoticed, and this is exactly the number of years these three together have given in service to school and community. We are grateful to them, and now that they are retiring, we offer our thanks for a job well done and wish the best possible retirement that the years can bring.

MRS. DALE HOWELL has seen 37 school years begin and end in her teaching career. As a beginning teacher in the rural schools, she states she spent 15 years teaching all grades. Coming into the Rock Port system at the end of the rural school era, the past 22 years have been spent teaching the 4th and 6th grades. Mrs. Howell has a special interest in children for she recalled it was gratifying to hear of her former students' progression in furthering their education as well as careers they chose for their vocations.

Her retirement is well earned, and we will miss her. She will remain in Rock Port and continue her interest in Eastern Star and her church. She plans to find time to relax and just "plain" enjoy her family.

MRS. GLADYS MARTIN, a warm, gracious lady, closed the doors on 48 years of teaching in Atchison County this spring. 13 of those years were spent in our system. Her first assignment here was junior high remedial reading, which she taught for 7 years. The next 3 she spent with a junior high and senior high special education class. For the remaining 3, she returned to her "first love", elementary remedial reading.

Mrs. Martin has a never ending interest in children and stated, "The most satisfaction a teacher can achieve is when a youngster has improved and the teacher can see the improvement." Her most memorable event came this year when her students surprised her with a gift at the end of school.

Her retirement does not include idleness for she has many interests. China and oil painting will take up many hours. This year she will be busy displaying a few of her art pieces at the Sidney Fair. Gardening will play a large part in her life, and, of course, she will never cease her charitable work with children.

MR. CHARLES W. SHAW, our vocational agriculture instructor, retired this year after 30 years of continuous service at Rock Port. He had spent 37 years in this same field, 7 of which were in Iowa. Before deciding to teach, he was the State Hospital Farm Manager at Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

During Mr. Shaw's tenure he had a continuous FFA program in high school and took many of his boys to State FFA Camp. For 30 years he directed an Adult Farmers' Program each week, which in itself has been helpful to the community. He has always promoted FFA money-making projects, and he stressed leadership in their program.

We are all going to miss Mr. Shaw's helpful and cheerful manner and his never ending desire to help the juniors in their stands and with their banquets. In fact, he holds the school record for being a junior class sponsor the most number of years. 20 years out of 30 is a lot of proms and stands to supervise. But he always did it willingly and with a great sense of humor.

Now that his teaching career has ended, he hopes to be able to pursue his hobby of woodworking and build a house on a lot he has purchased. He also hopes to be able to continue driving a school bus, thus still keeping him in touch with the school and the students. His gardening on a large scale will also take up a good share of his time.

Board of Education

After spending three years planning a new elementary building, our Board of Education can be proud that the new facility is a reality.

Elementary students were happy to complete a full school year in their own building away from the noise of the high school.

Board members who spent many hours of effort, worry, and then finally felt the satisfaction of a job well done are at the right: Marlene Copeland, treasurer; Bill Stoner, president; Bill Amthor; Tim Wessler; Dr. D.C. Gallup, vice-president; Charlee Garst.

Lower right shows Dr. Gallup presenting Mr. Windes a fishing rod and reel as a retiring gift. He expressed the Board's appreciation for Mr. Windes's efforts for the past four years.

Mr. Windes and Bill Stoner conversed at the front door of the new building. Seemingly, they approved their efforts.

A plaque commemerating the new building was placed in the main hall.

The Administration And Their Girls Friday

History

Miss Connie Griffin, B.A., Tarkio College, was in command of three history classes this year: Sociology, World History, and World Geography. The pictures above show the World Geography classes reading and listening to classmates term papers. Middle right, Miss Griffin seems to be a prisoner in her own room. The World History class redecorated the room in "early dungeon." At right Ann Eilers and Kathy Schaffner admire collages consisting of happenings in today's society. This project was sponsored by the Sociology class. Other activities of the history classes included: World War 1 trials by the World History classes, geography projects, and a political pool given by the Sociology class.

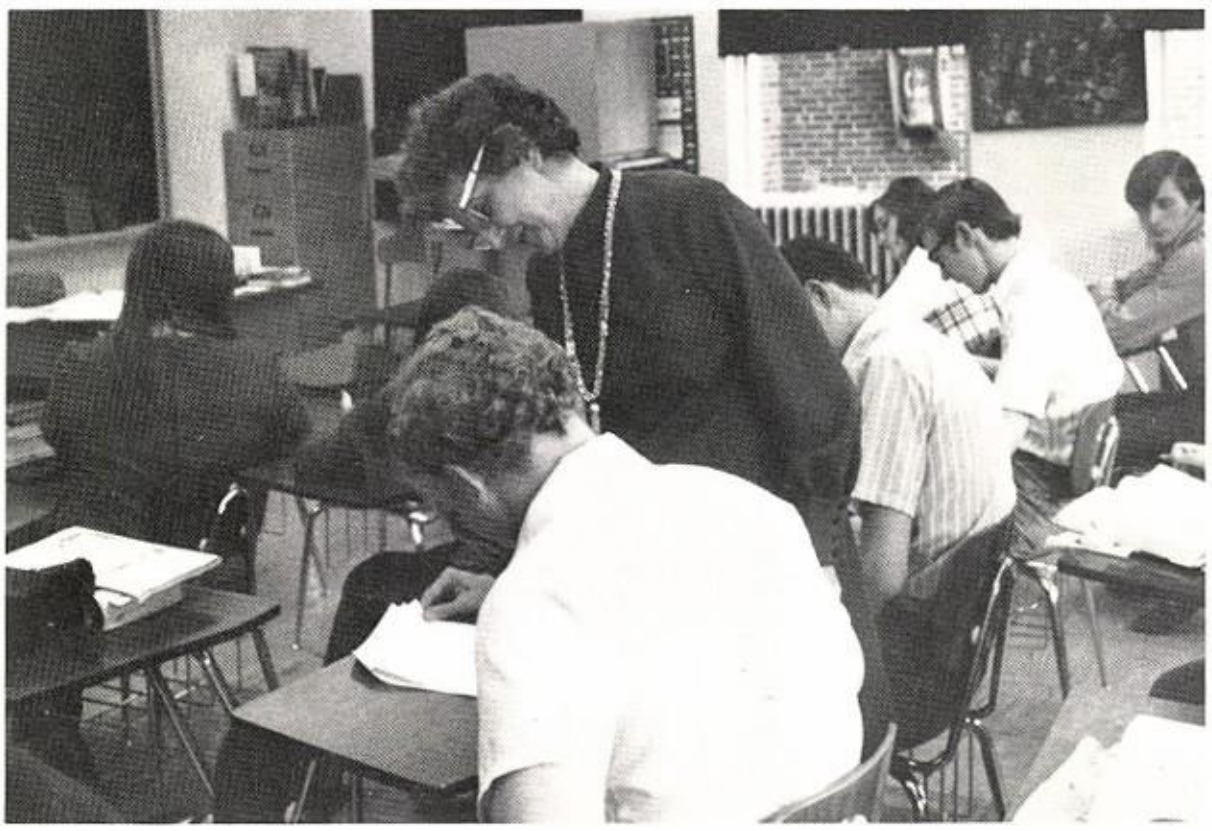
English and Speech

Clockwise from picture at right: Mrs. Barbara Marquart received her A.B. degree from Central Methodist College. She teaches freshman and sophomore language arts. Mrs. Betty Salfrank shown with her "Friday Delight" received her A.B. from Tarkio College and her M.A. degree from NWMSC at Maryville. She teaches junior and senior language arts and speech. "The Littlest Angel" was presented by the speech class to the grade school during the Christmas season. One of the impressive bulletin boards in the English department was displayed in Mrs. Marquart's room. Some students wondered if the skull and crossbones was supponsed to represent their feelings about the class. Mrs. Salfrank is shown helping a difficult student with an assignment or is she helping a student with a difficult assignment?

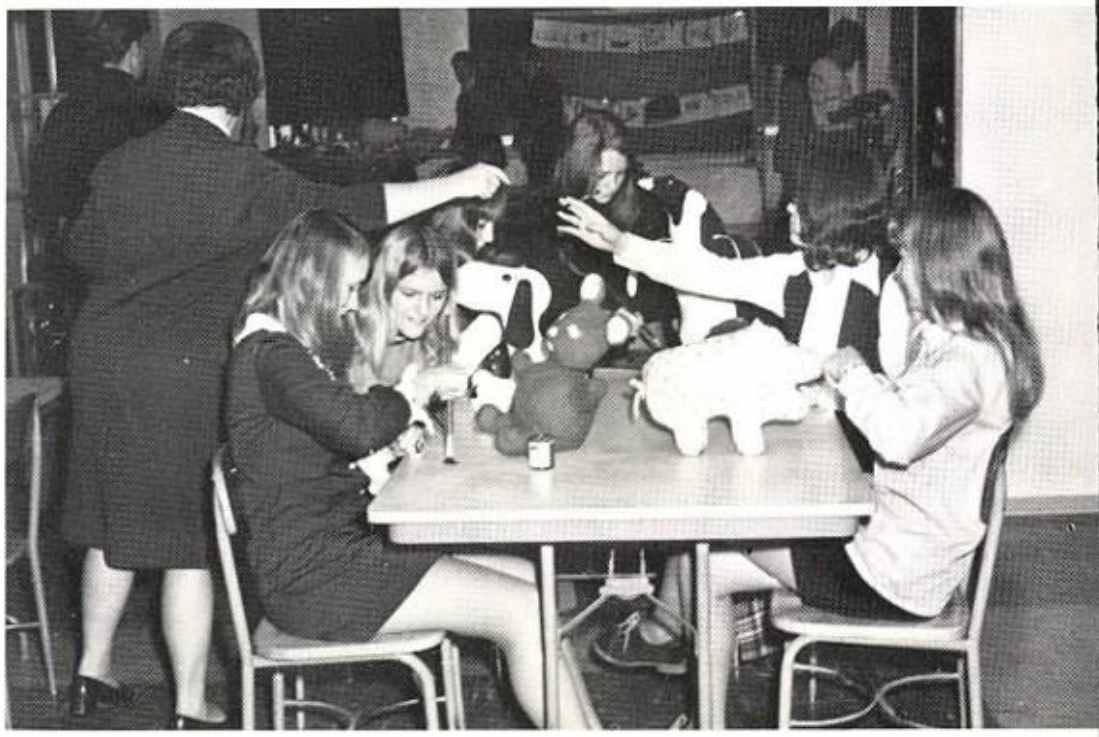


Foreign Language

Counterclockwise from picture at left: Miss Jackie Bergman, the high school Spanish teacher, received her B.S. degree in Spanish from the University of Illinois, and her M.A. degree from the University of Missouri. The pinata is being broken by Senorita Maheu during the Christmas festivities. The third hour class is shown hard at work being very cautious not to use any English. To raise money for a taco party, the class decided on a fine of ten cents for every English word spoken in class. Why did Diana Shineflew win a Spanish scholarship? You probably would too if you had the teacher herding you with a bullwhip, someone cheering you on with rattling maracas, and a pinata full of candy waiting for you.

Art

Mrs. Lenore Windes, B.S. Kansas State, Pittsburg, below is explaining how to make a silk-screen print. Mrs. Windes had a full time job with junior high and high school art classes. The students had a variety of art projects. The pictures at right illustrate the various talents of using paper mache. John Ingram, Kenny Herron, and Ron McMahon are putting the finishing touches on their projects. Middle right, Paula Bramble, Debbie Davison, Teresa Wharton, Kay Schumacher, and Cindy Randall are having some fun while working. Bottom right, Jodi Maheu creates her masterpiece.

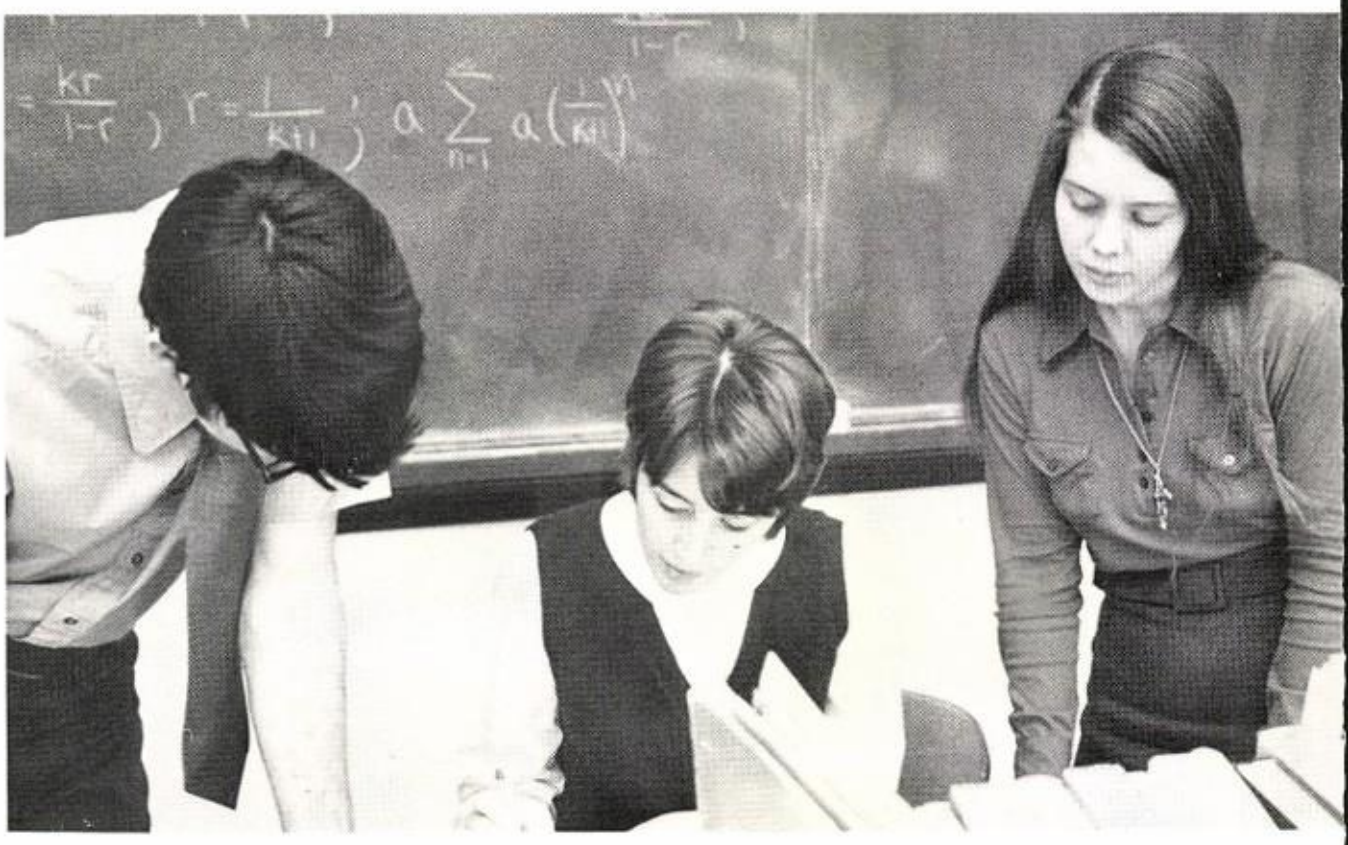


Music

The Music Department was under the direction of Mr. Ken Meisinger, B.A., University of Nebraska. Mr. Meisinger had a very successful year, receiving seventeen I's and twelve II's at district music contest. The pictures below illustrate how the students obtained these I's--a lot of long hard practices. Even though many complained during these sessions, everyone realized that they did pay off in the end. Along with high school music, Mr. Meisinger was in charge of junior high band and chorus and elementary band.

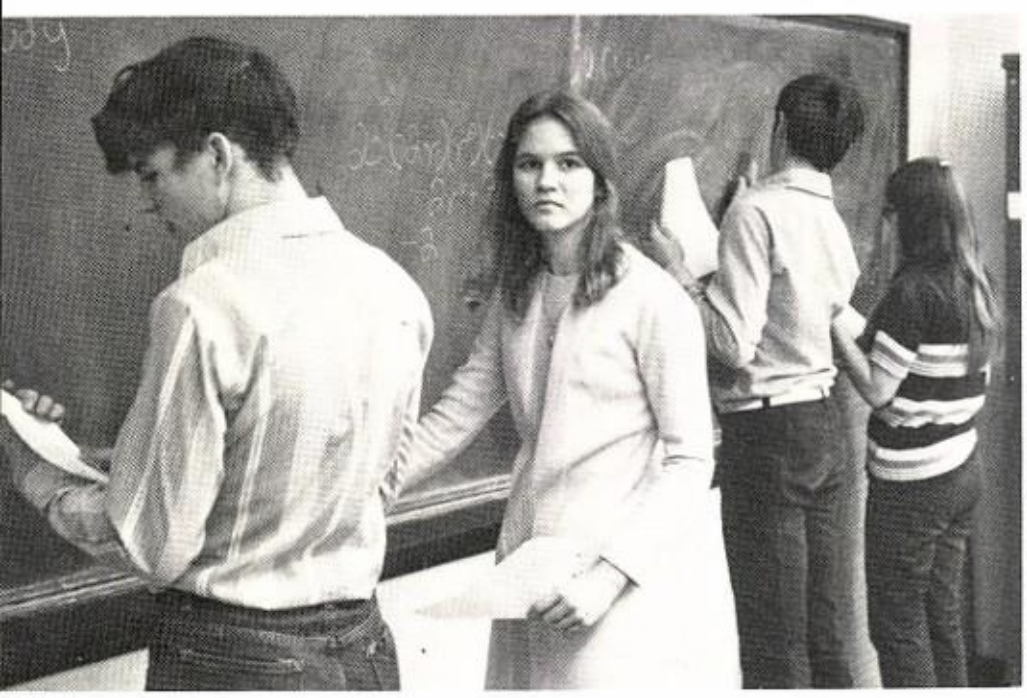
Math

Mrs. Cynthia Schwartz taught the fundamentals of math to her algebra, geometry, and math analysis classes. She attended Chadron State College at Chadron, Nebraska, where she received a B.S. degree in math.



Right: Inquisitive minds turn to Mrs. Schwartz for the answers.

Below: Students illustrated the methods in problem solving at the blackboard.



Science

Mr. Keith Harmon, who has a B.S. degree from NWMS College at Maryville, enlightened the students on the principles of science. Studying anatomy and performing dissections were some activities of the biology classes. Chemistry students enjoyed balancing equations and running titrations.

Psychology

The students in this class were instructed by Mr. William Curry, who has a B.A. degree from Tarkio College. Lively class discussions and numerous experiments helped them to better understand the course. Elementary students were often used as victims in class experiments.

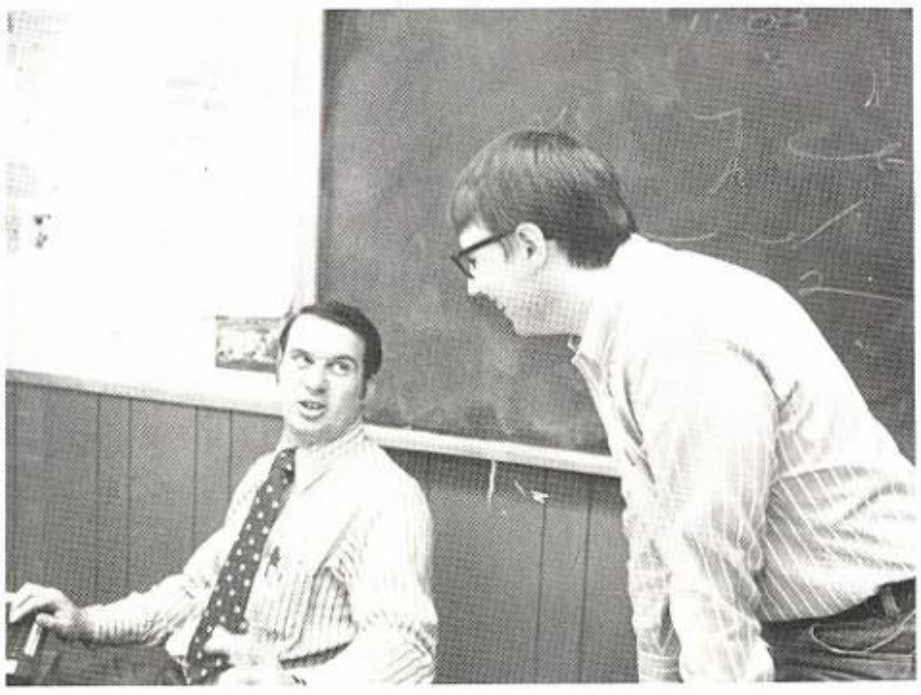
Top: Listen and Learn!

Above: Grade school pupils helped the class in an ecology project.

Right: Curry instructs Curry.

Business Education

The Business Education Department was headed by Mrs. Phylis Fay and Mr. Dennis Gates. Mrs. Fay, B.S., Tarkio College, taught Bookkeeping I and II, Shorthand, and Publications. Mr. Gates, B.A., NWMSC, taught Typing, Clerical Office Practice, Basic Business, Business English and Business Law. The pictures represent the various classes in the Business Department.



Industrial Arts

Industrial Arts was offered for the third year in a row in 1972 and was again located in the old cafeteria. Mr. Welsch, department head, is shown with Joe Gaylor, right, as he helps Joe with his floor plan. Advanced wood working students Alan Schumacher and James McElfish, below, are shown working on their projects with wood lathes.

Agriculture And Shop

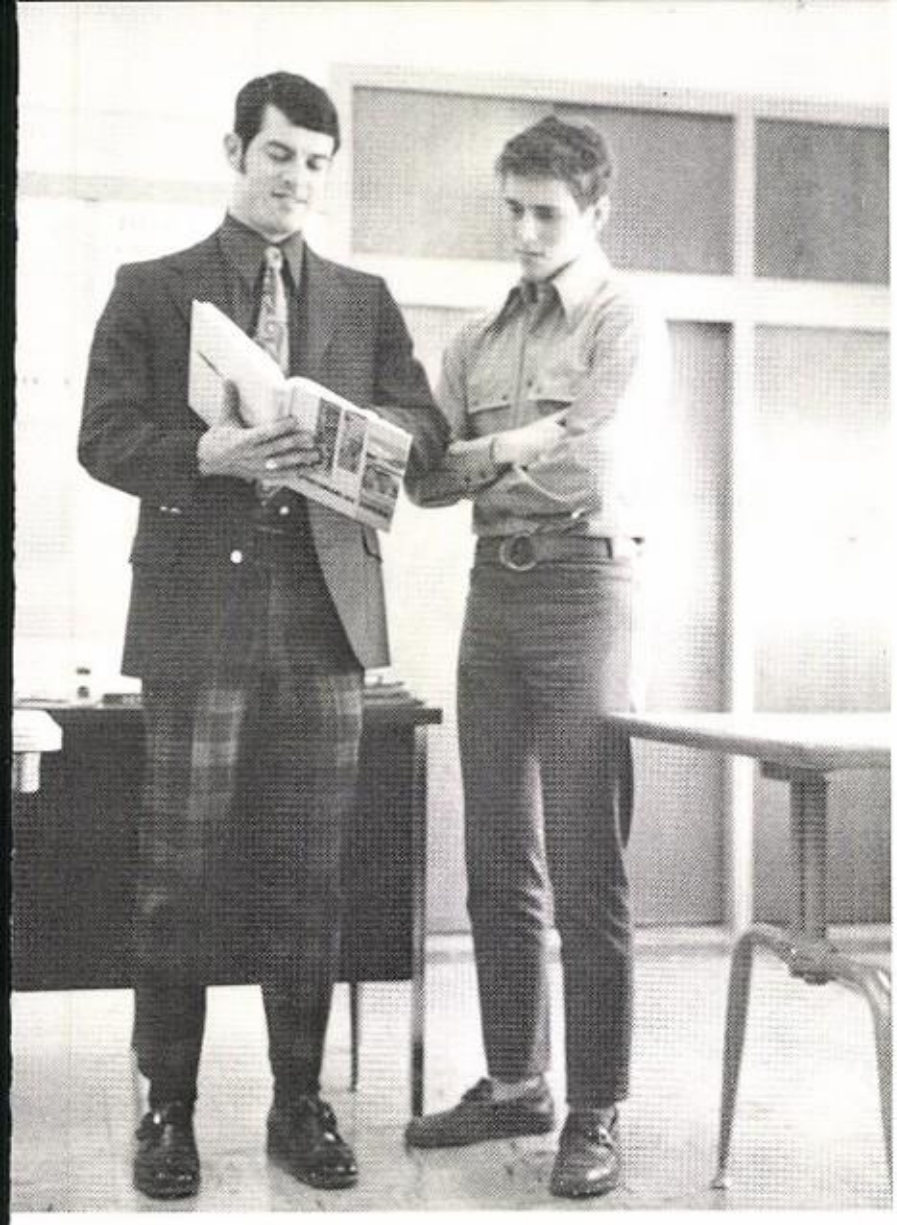
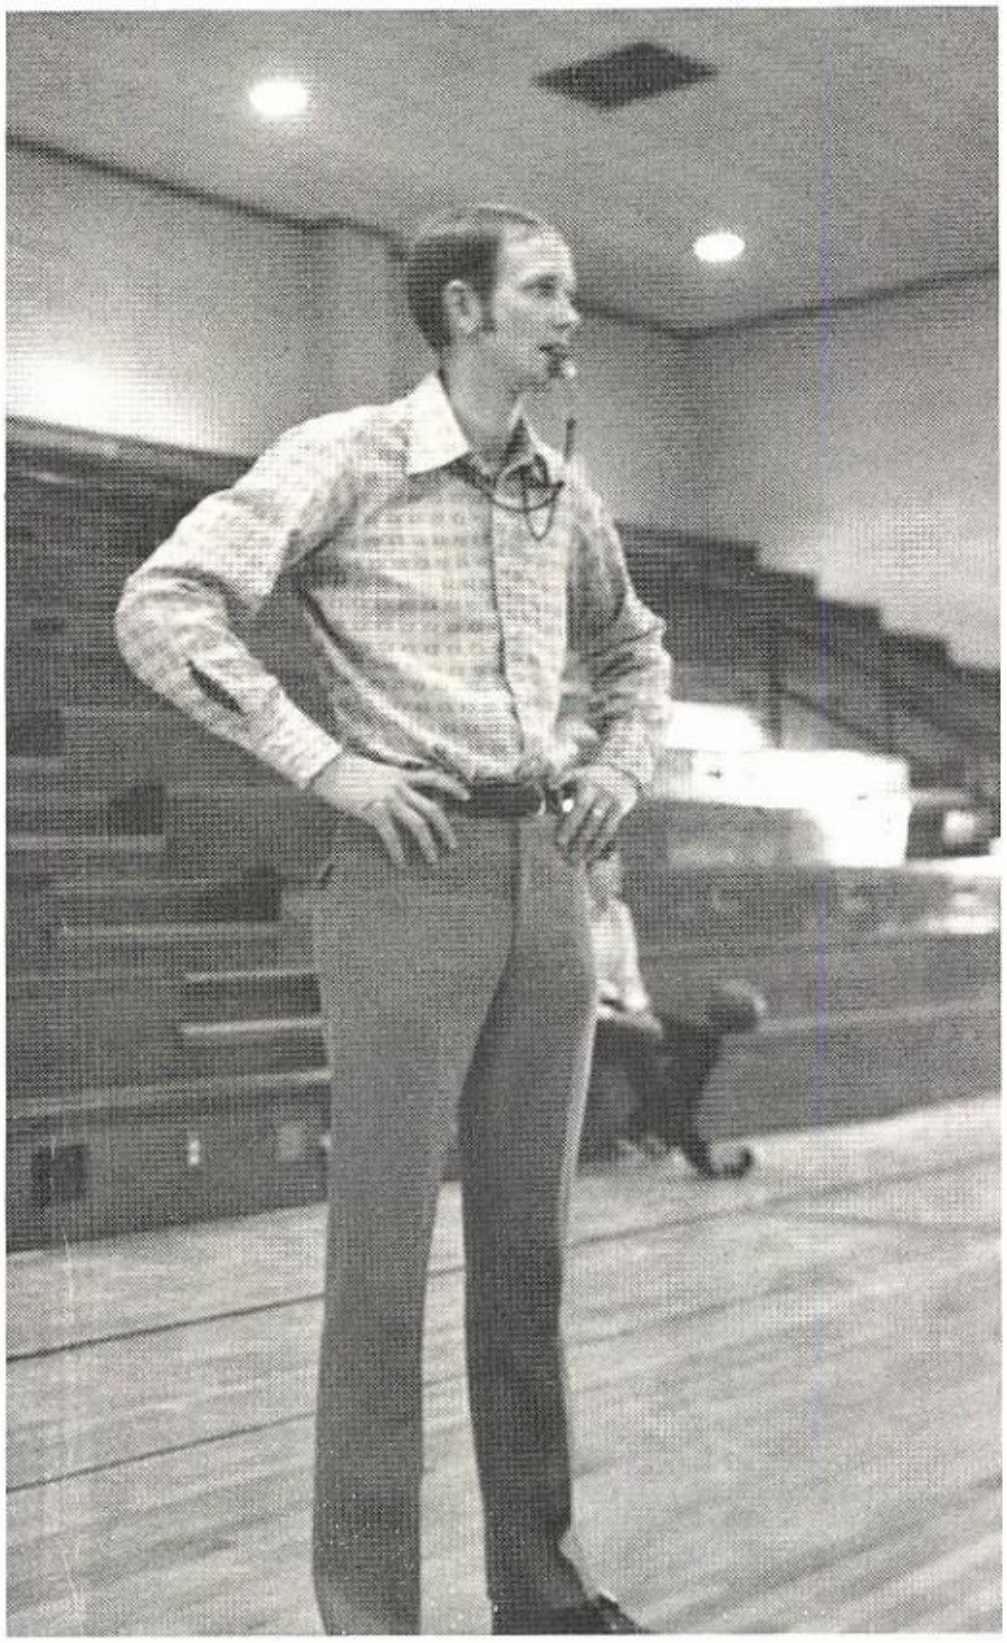
Home Economics

Home Economics was taught this year by Mrs. Jo Tarp, B.S., Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Oklahoma. Home Ec. I, II, and semester home economics were offered. One of the outstanding projects of the classes was their Christmas Fair, when the girls displayed handicrafts they had made. At right: Brooke Wanamaker and Delores Morrison admire exhibits at the Christmas Fair. Below; Teresa Hill and Debbie Schulp seem to be busy cooking. Bottom right; Mrs. Tarp explains the art of sewing to Brooke Wanamaker and Denise Laverentz.



P.E. and Drivers Ed.

Counterclockwise from picture at left: Mr. Denny Kurtz, B.S., degree from NWMSC, had the privilege of teaching drivers education. Not only did Mr. Kurtz have classroom duties, but he also had to be brave while "on the road" with the students. Miss Janet Deck, B.S. degree from Wichita State; and Mr. Stephen Schwartz, B.S. degree from Chadron State College, were in charge of the physical education department. Along with their duties as high school instructors, they also had elementary physical education.



Non-Teaching Personnel

Clockwise from picture at right: Mrs. Sharon Welsch, librarian, obtained a B.S. degree in education at NWMSC. Athletic director, Dennis Gates, planned all sports events for the school. Claude Whitchurch, guidance counselor, helped the students on anything from hurt feelings to college entrance. He received his B.S. and M.A. degrees at KSC in Pittsburg, Kansas. Miss Mary Meintel, speech therapist, received a B.S. degree in education at NWMSC. Mrs. Pauline LaHue, a registered nurse, took care of all emergencies and tried to keep everyone healthy.

High School Special Ed.

Miss Vicki Herrick received her B.S. degree in education at Southwest Missouri State College in Springfield. This is her first year at Rock Port and she was an asset in organizing a high school special education program.

Food Supervisors

Maintenance and Transportation Crews

Without the maintenance and transportation crews, a school could not operate. The crews at Rock Port are certainly to be congratulated on their excellent work. Pictured at left is a view of the bus line at the end of the school day. The busses again loaded on the west side of the high school and elementary buildings, simplifying the end-of-the-day traffic problems.

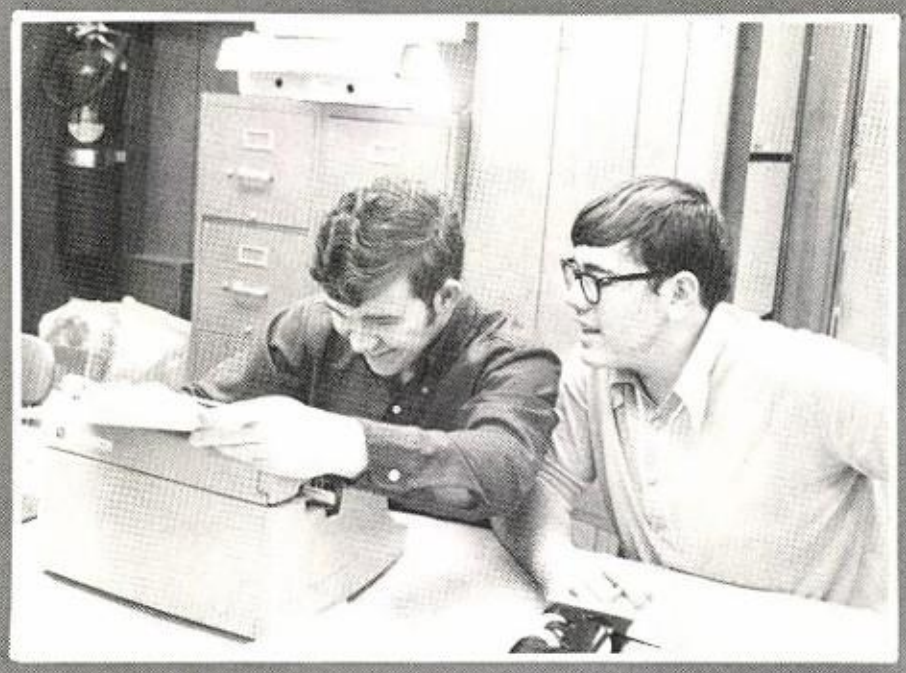
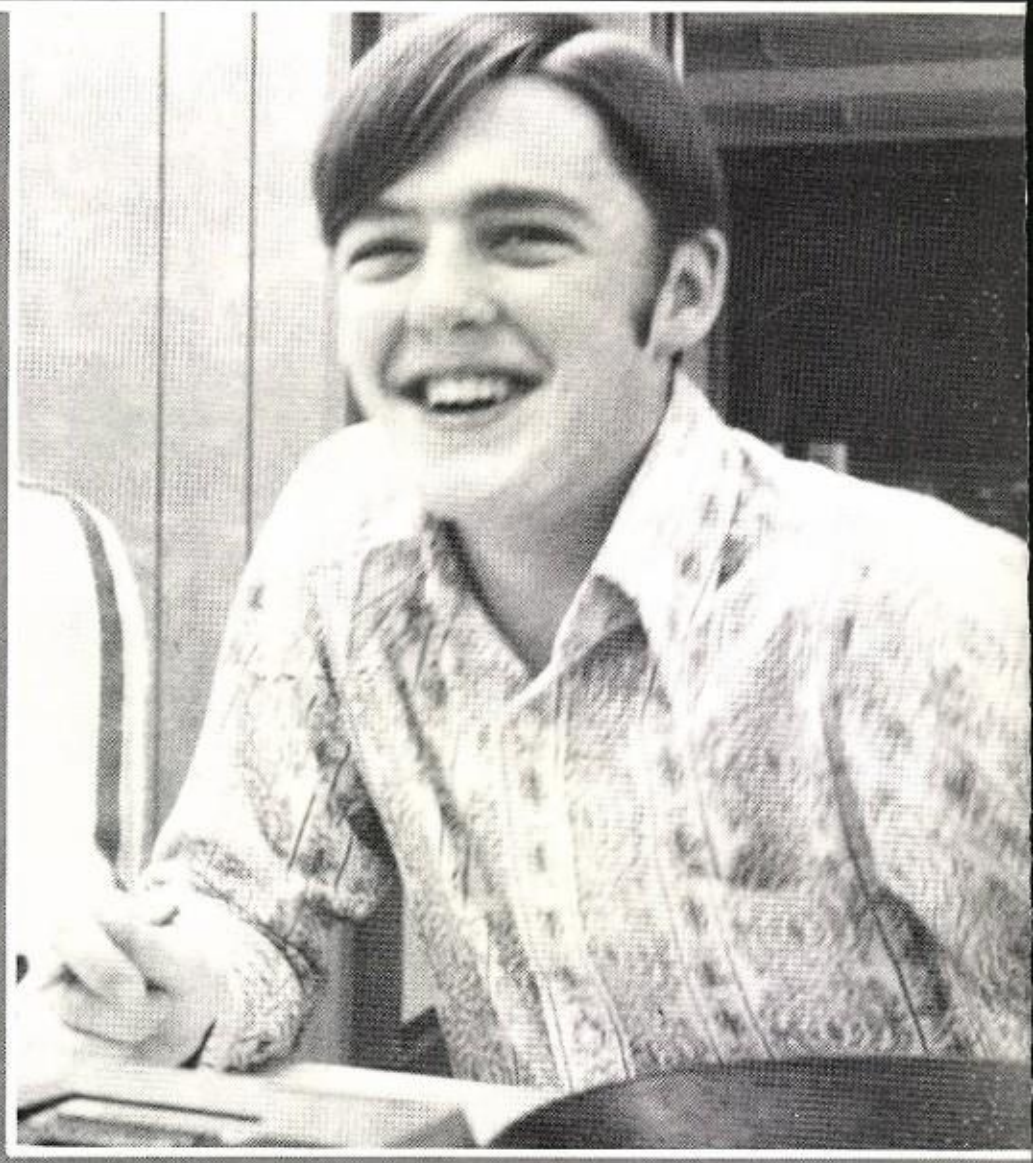
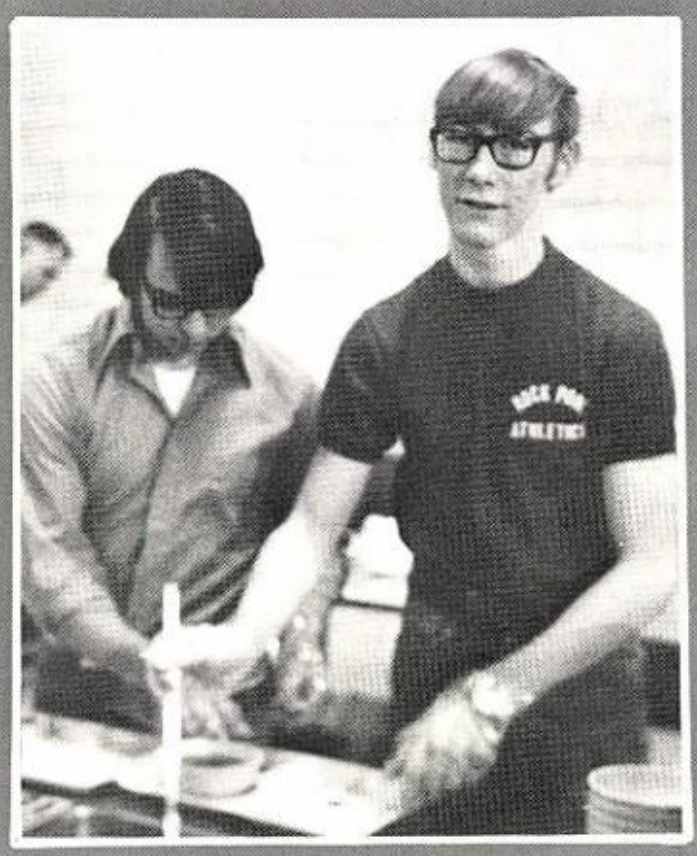
Graduation Activities

The Seniors of 1972 prepared for the Graduation activities after several years of earnest struggle. Senior Class Day was the last official day of attending classes. Then came practice after which Baccalaureate and an outdoor Commencement concluded their school functions. The class left behind them the following words as a small symbol of their knowledge and emotions.

"Our mothers and our fathers were the beginning of each of our lives. They cared about us and saw to our needs until the first day of school. Since that time, the teachers have led us through twelve years of protected education. We've never known another environment. From this day forward, we have the realization that all we encounter will be something new. Our leaving means to us new beginnings. Our minds wander to new hopes which leads to new dreams to satisfy our wants. With dreams to build on, we seek out new surroundings. New opportunities arise to which new responsibilities in life are born. Our tastes in living lead us to new interests, and new friends who share these interests. With every piece of living there comes new kinds of happiness and new worries. Everything that surrounds us will bring new feelings and new loves to cherish. We have in front of us new lives."







Juniors

Juniors

This was perhaps the best year for the class of '73. No longer are they lowly freshman or in-between sophomores. Now they are juniors-upper classmen. A year of joy, class rings, term papers, frustration, Junior Stand, prom, class play, victorious games, and looking forward to becoming a Senior was the 1971-72 school year for the Juniors.

Sophomores

The Sophomores, as well as resting between their busy Freshman and Junior years, were involved in selecting a classmate to journey to Jefferson City to study Missouri's government, and the task of constructing the second place homecoming float entitled "Stage of Victory".

Study halls were never quite the same after they were invaded by the Sophomores, as evidenced by the study position assumed by Mark Flake and Rhonda Hudson in the picture at the right.

Study Study Study

The three words above were not favorite pastimes of the mighty Sophomores, as made clear by the four pictures at left. Kathy Burke, far upper left, found it hard to work on geometry in those zany study halls. Two of Miss Griffin's students, Jody Maheu and Kay Schumacher, near upper left, were often stubborn in her geography class. Mark Flake, far lower left, always was a clown when it came to P. E. (his best subject). The halls of Rock Port were never empty as long as one of the Sophomores was roaming through their endless expanses, near lower left.

Freshmen

After graduation from junior high, the freshman finds himself suddenly caught-up in high school life. Although his senior year seems so far off, it is altogether too close.

Each year some brave ninth graders run for offices to participate in County Government Day. The election speeches before the student body are terrifying for most of the students, but help them to overcome any fears of upperclassmen.

Eighth Grade

Actually, eighth graders could be called the seniors of junior high. They have their own set of activities apart from the high school's, which prepares them for the hectic years ahead. Junior high is the bridge between elementary and high school; it is a time for growing and doing.

Junior High Faculty

Clockwise from above: Senorita Jackie Bergman is shown amidst a sombrero, two maracas, and a number of libros or books. She received her B.A. degree in Spanish from the University of Illinois and her M.A. degree from Missouri University. Mrs. Lenore Windes teaches junior high art. She received her B.S. degree at Kansas State College. Tony Gaines is shown teaching one of his social studies classes. He is also junior high coach of girls and boys basketball, physical education, football, and track. He received a B.A. degree from Tarkio College. Miss Cindy Burt received her B.S. degree in education from NWMSC. She is shown with one of her junior high math students but also teaches high school functional math.

After the marching season, the band came indoors to form a concert band. They performed a spring concert with the high school band, where Mr. Meisinger announced the outstanding junior high band members. They were Cathy Cohen and Perry Heard from the seventh grade, and Dan Mifflin and Bev Whitchurch from the eighth.

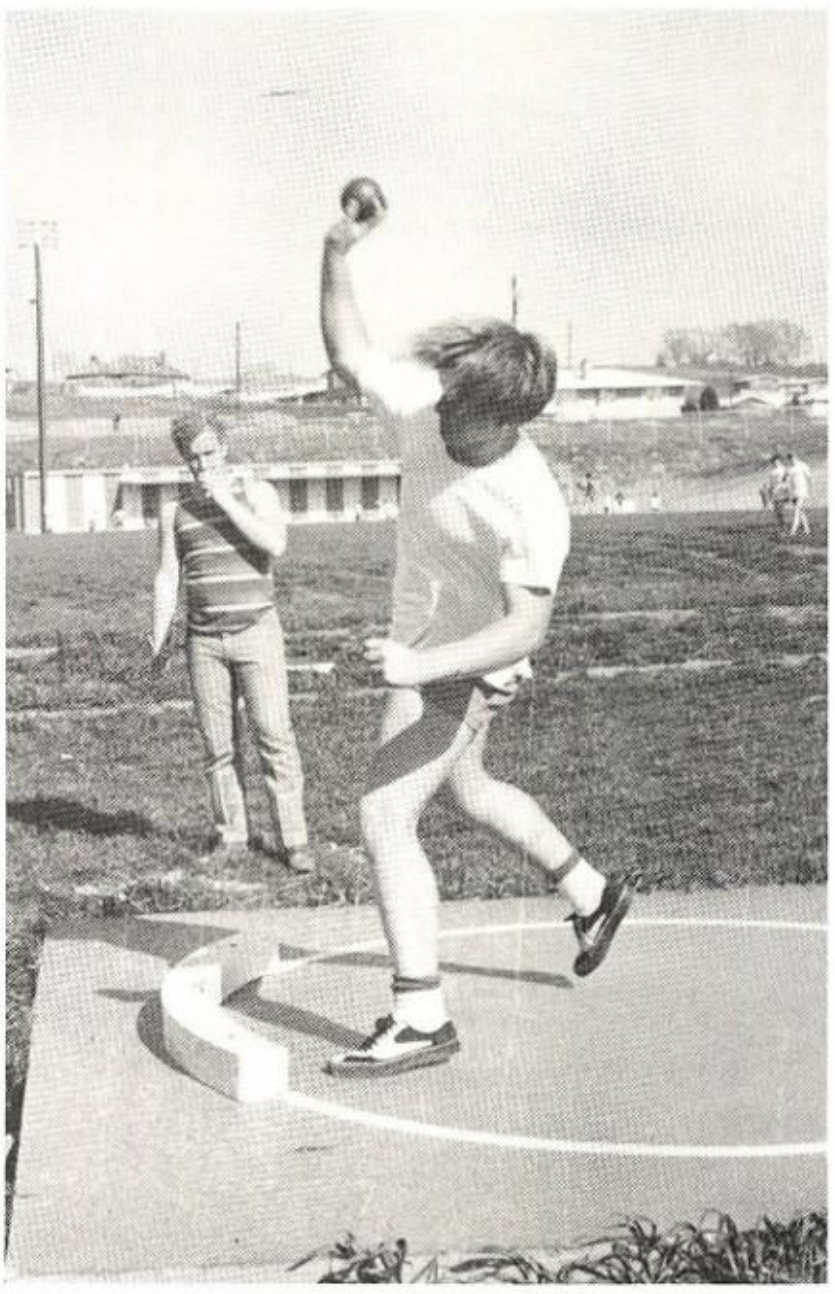
Junior High Track

Teamwork and a fighting Bluejay spirit made the junior high track season a huge success. They ran, jumped, and threw well as illustrated by the pictures below. Jeff Houts, left, was active in the broad jump. He had a very successful season and helped his team to many victories.



The other three pictures above are all scenes from junior high track meets. They include: the mile run, above left; the shot put, above; and the pole vault, left.

The combination of teamwork, pride, spirit, and talent brought much success to the junior high team and makes the outlook for next year even brighter!

Jr. High Boys Basketball

This year's boys' team was coached by Mr. Tony Gaines. The team finished with 10 wins, 4 losses, and came home with the West Nodaway Grade Tournament third place trophy, plus the 275 Jr. High Conference Tournament third place trophy. The teams record was as follows:

Rock Port	30	South Holt	25
Rock Port	39	Tarkio	29

Jr. High Cheerleaders And Pep Club

The sixth grade year is always, by far, the busiest year in grade school. This year's sixth graders certainly lived up to expectations. Besides playing kickball, prisonball, and basketball in the new multi-purpose gym, they were engaged in various other activities. They were introduced to the basic principles and rules of parliamentary procedure. They practiced it in the classroom by electing class officers that changed each quarter.

In the line of history they explored, through study, the regions of Latin, Central, and South America. Also, they studied Mexico and were taught a bit of Spanish. They had fun practicing their newly acquired language. They also obtained their first taste of fractions. They were tough learning, but once they understood them, they were riding on cloud nine.

The sixth graders were taught the value of notes in music. They also joined beginning band if they wished to do so. All-in-all, the sixth grader's teachers did a fine job of preparing them for Junior High and all are ready and willing to enter the seventh grade.

Fifth Grade

Lesli Judson

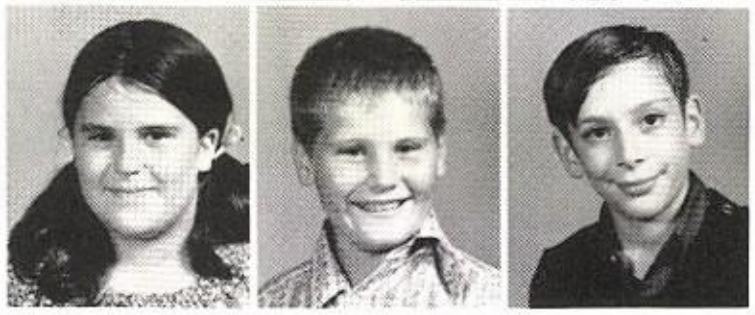
Jim Knierim



This year the fifth grade had a fun packed though educational year. They studied oceanography and concentrated on science projects. Last spring their biology and ecology projects proved interesting. They also concentrated on math work, because of the new books. They read many stories and poems, and then wrote their own. They studied the United States and made maps to show what they learned. This year the boys had a very interesting little league football season complete with cheerleaders. Later on, they had an intermural basketball season and in the spring, a track day was held.

Shown at right are 4 students decorating their tree at Christmastime. They also decorated their rooms. The students are: Lesli Judson, Jim Knierim, Jeff Stubblefield, and Lora Corken.

At the left, two students, Brenda Perry and Jodi Ellison are showing the Christmas decorations that the class made in their weekly art period. This display was made from foil that was first shaped into Christmas shapes and then painted. Each of the classes had its own projects to do.

Fourth Grade

Fourth grade is a year of great importance. The students were very active with their study of ecology and found time to make posters and badges. Right: They also enjoyed experimenting with their microscopes.

In addition to their regular courses of English, history, math, spelling, and science., they found time for Christmas, Halloween, and Thanksgiving parties.

Caught him red-handed, or so it seems. Actually, Mike Leisman is looking for some help from the teacher.

Third Grade

The third grade was a busy group this year. The most important thing they learned-whether they know it or not--was the method cursive writing. (script) They studied some History about Indians and Pioneers and also studied about different types of foods.

School was not all work though, some of it was fun, such as making decorations for Christmas and going on a short trip to Tarkio Mule Barn to see the play, "The Butterfly That Blushed," which the youngsters enjoyed very much.

Second Grade

Having passed the hurdle that faced them as first graders, the students moved on to greater goals and challenges in the second grade. Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Nigh had their hands full, since they were given the job of teaching the largest class in the elementary. The second grade contained sixty-eight industrious pupils. They learned such things as telling time, understanding measurements, how to write letters, and learned to use cursive writing. Even though second grade was harder than their previous year, the students all looked forward to moving onward and upward.

First Grade

As the first graders headed into their second year of school, they were filled with wonderment of what was to come. With the help of Miss Twila Anders and Mrs. Phyllis Reeves, the children were taught the alphabet, arithmetic, and reading. Among the projects for the usual first grade level, they also had a pollution project. The children did everything they could to stop the pollution problem.

With these fine, young students, Rock Port can look forward to a fine school and community.

Kindergarten

Kindergarten, for many of these young vigorous students, is the beginning of a whole new life. They learn all the important shapes, letters, colors, beginning sounds, science, modern math, and many more new things.

Some of their special studies were learning about the sea around them, the sky above them, the life in Autumn, men of early America, life and habits of the Eskimos and parts about space.

They learned how to share their toys and were taught new games and songs, even though they attended school only half a day. In this short time they learned many new things to share with excitement with their families and friends.

Remedial Reading

Remedial Reading was taught by Mrs. Gladys Martin, who received her A.B. from Tarkio. Among the years activities were learning through the aid of filmstrips, right; and putting on a puppet show, below.

Special Education

Elementary Music

Elizabeth Glaves, B.S. San Francisco State College, taught grade school music. She presented her students in a patriotic music program in the spring.

In a particular song the children did imitations of ducks.

Homecoming Floats

For the 1971 Blue Jay homecoming each of the four high school and two junior high school classes constructed a beautiful float created from hundreds of napkins, pounds of chicken wire, and enough lumber to build Noah's Ark.

The theme by which the floats were constructed was "150 Years of Victory", commemerating Missouri's sesquicentennial. First, second, third, and fourth places were awarded to the most outstanding entries. They were judged on orginality, beauty, and on how well they kept to the theme of the parade.

First place was awarded to the Seniors, top photo, who christened their 19th century Mississippi River steamboat the BLUE JAY BELLE. Their theme was "Steaming to Victory." The Sophomores received second place. Their float, above right, featured a wild west stage coach. Their theme was "Stage of Victory." The Seventh grade won third place with the theme "Mighty Missouri, Home of the Blue Jays."

Homecoming Royalty

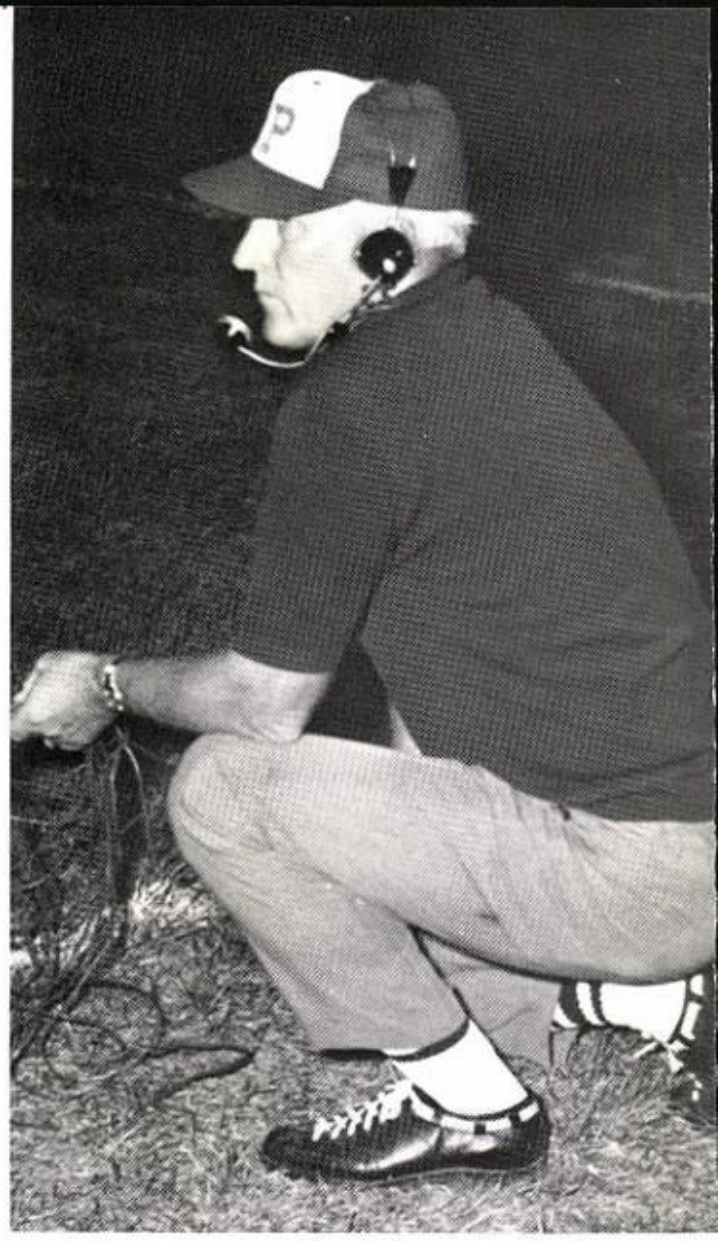
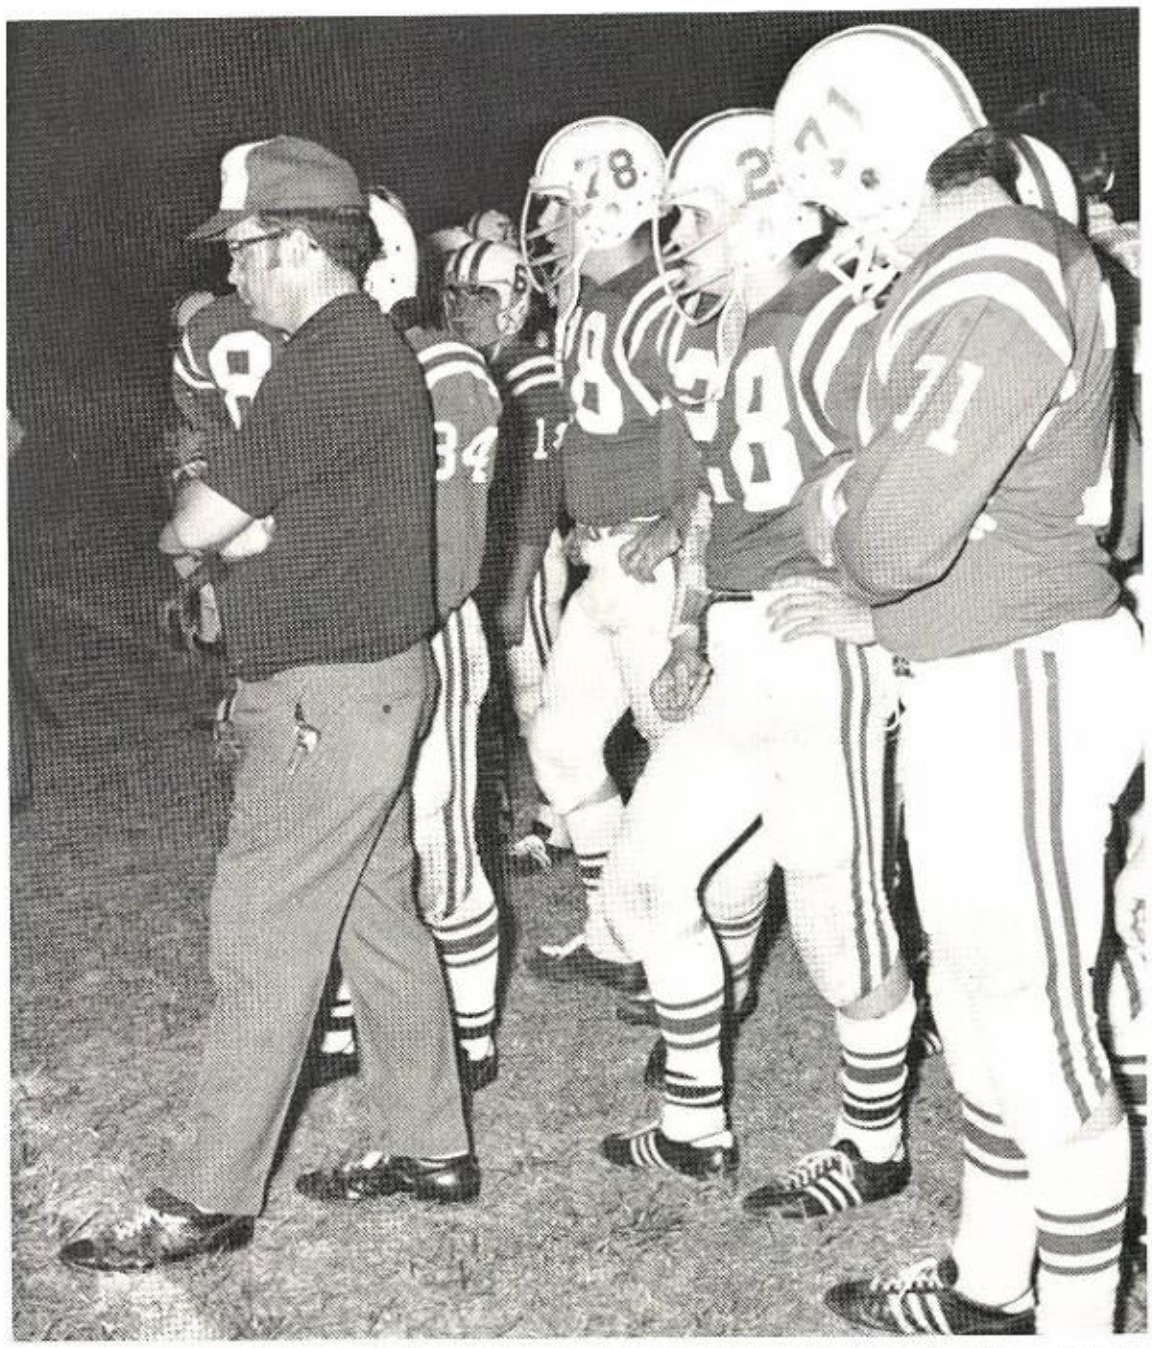
Football 1970-1971

This year the Jays finished third in the 275 Conference with six wins, two loses, and two ties. Fielding one of the youngest teams in the conference, the Jays played with great desire and were in every game until the final seconds.

This was also the first year for Bluejay Stadium probably the finest field in this area. The stadium's seating capacity is 2100. The field is also equipped with dressing rooms, concession stand and a carpeted crows nest. Another added convenience is a set of phones from the crows nest to the Bluejay bench. These are used to convey messages to Coach Whitchurch (shown at right) from the better vantage point of the spotter.





A nervous Coach Dennis Gates paces the sidelines during the Jays 22-8 victory against West Nodaway.

"Mean Little Kids"

The high powered Jay offense was led by Sophomore quarterback, Clay Knierim. Despite being shut out twice in ten games, the Jays racked up 181 points.

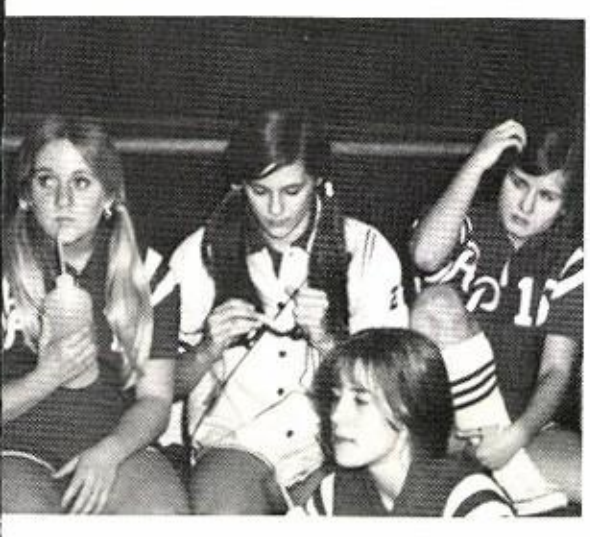
Girls Basketball



The lime light of the sports arena undoubtedly fell upon girls basketball this year. The fans at Rock Port who had been waiting patiently for a revival of girl's basketball ever since the wonder years of the late fifties finally received their wish as the girls streaked to a fantastic 24-3 season record. The team set a record for the number of wins by a Rock Port girls squad. Not since 1959 had a team won more than 15 games in one season. The Jays started off the season by capturing first place in the Mound City Tourney for the second year in a row. After proving their strength in the tournament, they then set themselves to winning the 275 Conference. They defeated every conference foe in championship style and by midseason it was evident who was headed for the conference title. The girls suffered their first defeat on January 8 to a team that was to begrudge them the right of winning the Fairfax Invitational later in the season. But losing to a team that ended with a 24-1 record and finished second in the Regional is nothing to be ashamed of. The Jays then flew through the rest of the regular season, capturing the 275 Conference Tourney as they went. The Jays were sporting a 22-2 record and were seeded 2nd as they entered the 1st annual regional tournament at Barnard. But the girls suffered a bitter defeat at the hands of North Andrew in the semi-final game which ended their season at 24-3. But the prospects for next year's squad is even better. Lesa Wessler, all-conference center, was the only starting Senior in the line-up. The girls will be eagerly looking forward to next season and a possible berth in the state tournament.

Bluejay Basketball

Lesa helped to lead the girls team to a victory over the Fairfax Bulldogs that night.

A dance was held in the multi-purpose room following the game and the coronation. The band was the "Poppin' J", a very popular dance band among Rock Port High School students.

Bigger And Better

The seventh annual Bluejay Relays were held April 7, at the new Bluejay Stadium. Thirty schools and approximately five hundred athletes participated in the Relays. Although the temperature dipped to 27 degrees during the night, finals, tracksters and fans braved it until the end. Rock Port made a fine showing by placing fifth out of the thirty schools entered.

Activities

Marching Band

The Marching Bluejay Band spent hours of rehearsal time hoping to achieve perfection. A uniform step, razor sharp ranks, files, and diagonals are the coveted traits in any marching unit.

Below: At pep assemblies the band helped the cheerleaders in arousing school spirit.

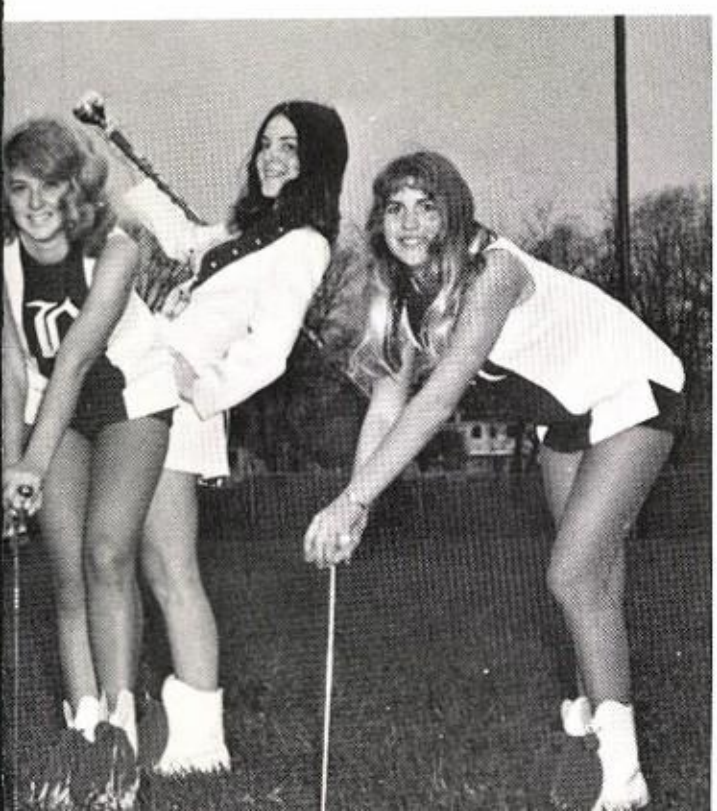
Band members traveled to their various engagements by school bus. They attended Clarinda Band Day, the Peru State Melody Round-up, and the Plattsmouth Invitational where they received a "II" rating.

Below: Somehow all the instruments were packed into the bus, but they became airborne if the tires happened to meet with a rut.



Concert Band

With the onset of cold weather the marching band became a concert band. They performed at two concerts, participated at the Atchison County Mass Band Day, and earned a "I" rating at contest.

Below: Ken Meisinger commands control over the band with his baton.

Chorus

Rock Port featured an all girls chorus this year for the first time and the results were excellent. The girls are shown here as Mr. Meisinger, chorus instructor, uses his talents in shaping the group into a respectable choir. (Below)

In addition to two concerts, the girls recorded a Christmas program for KMA radio, and devoted many hours to contest pieces.

Cheerleaders

The varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders had a fantastic year. It all began at cheerleading clinic where both groups made good showings. They started the new school year by performing at the opening assembly the first day of school, then kept up the school spirit at pep assemblies and all athletic events. A-team cheerleaders upper right, left to right are: Sherry Bogenreif, Maralee Sweeton, Teresa Miller, Sally Shubat, Jill Wanamaker, and Patti Shineman. At bottom right top row, Becky Shubat, Rita Hendrickson. Bottom right: Lisa Copeland, Cindy Randall, and Paula Bramble.

This spirited group of young athletes worked together in raising money by selling school mascot stickers (at reduced prices) and holding a very enjoyable chili supper and fun night for the public. The new members experienced the grim (but different) ordeal of initiation. David Frede is shown at left as he is forced to shine the shoes of R Club member Bob Stubblefield as part of his initiation.

Honor Society

The National Honor Society started its new year with eleven new junior members. After the tapping ceremonies, a formal initiation was held. Activities of this year's organization included the cerebral palsy drive and the annual trip. Pictured at right is Hal Hunt, president of Honor Society. Other officers are: Jackie Burke, vice-president; Tom Lutz, treasurer; LuAnn Manrose, secretary; and Ann Eilers, student council representative. Librarians

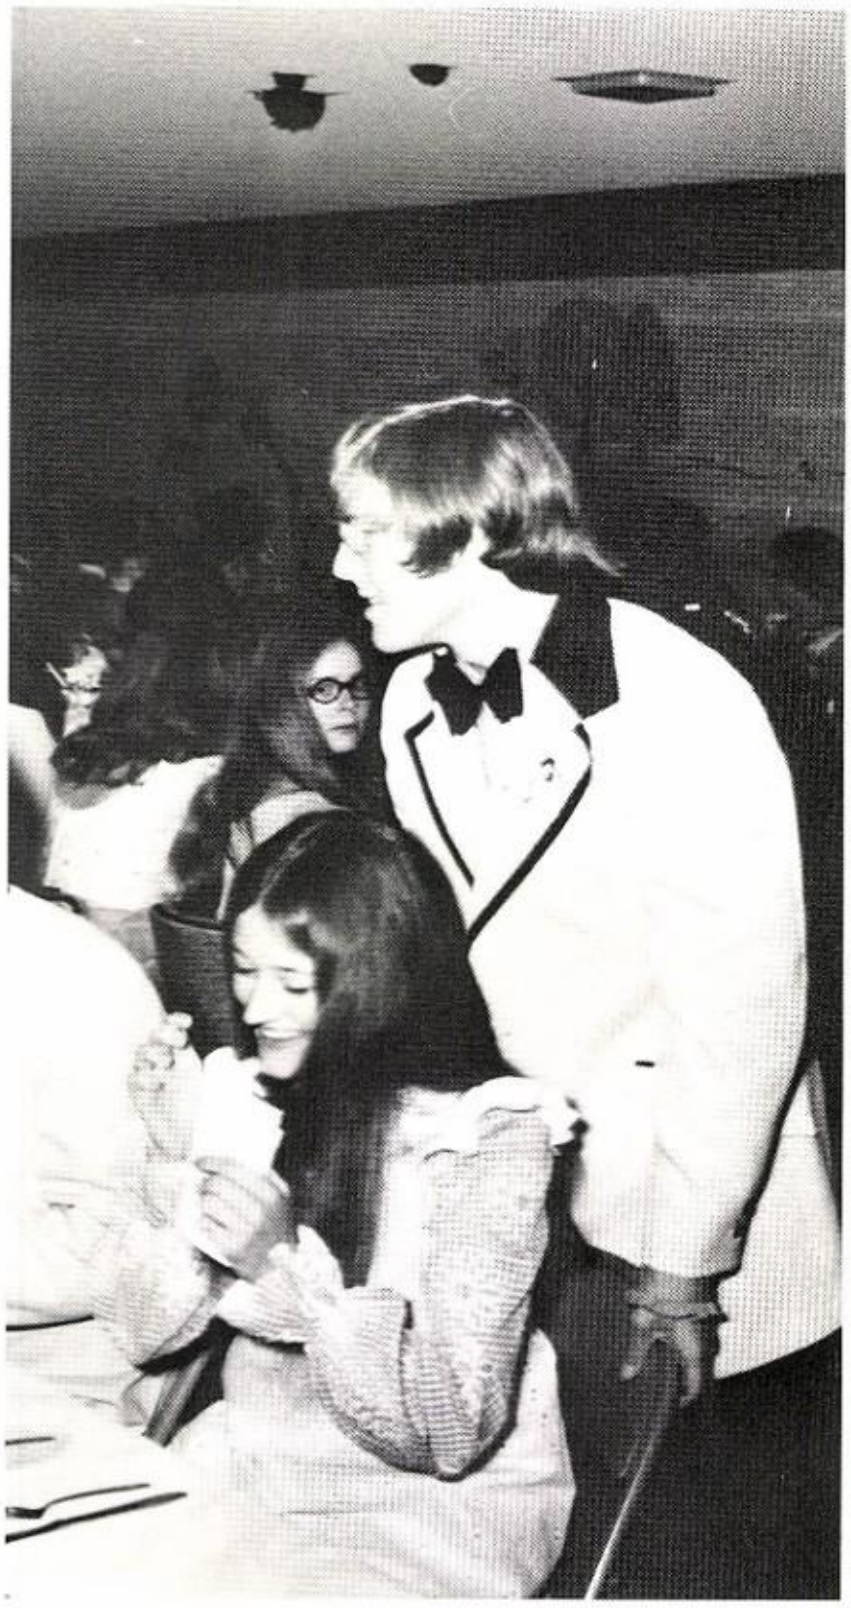
The Librarians led this year by Teresa Wharton, president; Diane Bramble, vice-president; LuAnn Manrose, secretary; Lesa Wessler, treasurer; Nancy Addington, student council; Ronda Haer, recreation leader; and Mrs. Sharon Welsch, sponsor, had a very successful year. Shown in the pictures below are some of the club's activities, such as working in the school library, monthly meetings, fund-raising events, such as a car bash and Valentine Sweetheart contest. Shown at left is Mrs. Welsch sponsor of the club.

Christmas Ball

The Christmas Ball Royalty at right were queen candidates: LuAnn Manrose, Teresa Wharton, and Brooke Wanamaker; king candidates: Hal Hunt, Joe Gaylor, and Jerry Lutz. Shown below: The 1971-72 Christmas Ball Queen Teresa Wharton and King Joe Gaylor.

Winter Wonderland, the theme for the '71-72 Christmas Ball, was held at the Memorial Building December 23. The event was sponsored by the Student Council. Everything was decorated as a park during the Christmas season complete with snow covered Christmas trees, snowmen, and winter scenery. Music was provided by the Poppin J's. Above right, Marilyn Perry, Ron McMahon, Paula Bramble and Kenny Herron seem to be enjoying the dance, each other, or maybe both? At right Susan Carpenter and Clay Knierim are enjoying the festivities of the evening.

The sophomore servers pictured below were: Standing: D. Haer, W. Lingerfelt, C. Markham, P. Graves, L. Ebert, S. Duhon, J. Mahou, B. Shubat, J. Wanamaker, M. Perry, T. Grossman. Kneeling: J. Kish, E. Jackson, M. Schomburg, G. Bogenreif, and C. Knierim.



Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom

The juniors, after many hours of preparation and decoration, turned the Country Club into a fantasyland. Toadstools, giant lollipops, and servers dressed as jolly elves helped to create this theme.

The Music for the prom was provided by the "Poppin' J" dance band.
